Avoid throwing out leaves and grass to the curb for roadside collection. Easily recycle at home. Turn the “free stuff” into black gold or compost that will help grow your flower and vegetable gardens. Plus save on fertilizer costs and avoid chemicals.

To learn how to compost, attend Friends of Alum Creek and Tributaries (FACT) one hour workshop on February 24. Dave Hohmann, President of FACT, will provide guidance on the different types of composting, how to begin and avoid common problems.
